

Don Carlos Loveridge

1850-1950 Centennial Biography

Don Carlos Loveridge, son of Alexander Hamilton and Malinda Stillwell Thomas Loveridge, was born August 20, 1868, in Lehi Utah.

His mother, with her parents, came to Utah with a company of Saints, whose head captain was Allen Taylor, arriving in Salt Lake October 14, 1849. His father crossed the plains with ox team from Nauvoo to Salt Lake City. He was sent by the Latter-day Saint Church to Cedar City, Utah to teach irrigation and to help protect the saints from the Indians. He came to Lehi in 1851.

With his father, he hauled tithing hay to Salt Lake City; his father driving a span of oxen and he a team of horses.

He homesteaded in Idaho; worked in Scofield mines; on the railroad; Lehi Stake Tabernacle; factories at Sugar City and Lincoln, Idaho; herded sheep; later he became a farmer and poultryman.

He married Francis Dawson in 1886, who died in 1888. He married Anna Laura Goodwin March 20, 1889; she died March 4, 1895. He later married Anna Gronberg, she died March 24, 1908. He afterward married Zina Bybee; she died in 1911. He married Ida Charles in 1918; she died 30, 1929. He married Mamie Larson Parker, September 5, 1939, with whom he now lives on the same block where he was born.

His children are Mrs. E. N. Webb (Annie), Mrs. Arnold Simpson (Alberta), Mrs. Leon Peet (Iris) a stepdaughter, and Mrs. Alex P. Olsen (Sigrid.).
